J-Council Election in Lodge Today

Elections for chairman of Judicial Council chairman are being held in the Lodge today from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Warren Gamas and Dick Dzivi are the candidates for the top position.

Dzivi received 179 votes in the primary compared to 147 for Gamas. Less than 20 per cent of the student body turned out for the election.

Dzivi, 21, is a business administration major from Kalispell. He is a two-year letterman, married, and the father of two children.

Gamas, 24, is an education major from Glasgow. He is a Korean war veteran and is presently on Judicial Council.

Seven other positions on the council have to be filled before the end of the year. One position is now open for a junior girl. The other six positions will be open sometime spring quarter, according to Dave Burton, present Judicial Council chairman.

Mont. Power Charged With 'Brainwashing'

WASHINGTON (U)—The Montana Power Company is one of several utility firms charged by the House Government Operations Subcommittee yesterday with trying to "brainwash" Interior Department officials in an effort to wreck the Federal Power program.

The others are the Public Service Company of Colorado, the Arizona Public Service Company, Utah Power and Light Company, and the Idaho Power Company.

The subcommittee is calling for an immediate congressional investigation of efforts by private power companies to "influence" the administration, Congress, and state governments.

The utilities prepared and gave the Interior Department in semi-anonymous form a booklet of "so-called factual information" which it says actually comprised a "potpourri of professional private power propaganda," according to the subcommittee.

It said the pamphlet contained "inaccurate, incomplete, distorted and otherwise deceptive information which could only have been calculated to mislead the officials to whom it was directed."

The booklet, titled "The Federal Power Program: Its Background, Growth and Consequences" was given to then Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay in 1953, shortly after he took office.

The subcommittee said its investigations show the companies sponsoring the booklet included the five Rocky Mountain power companies.

The booklet "was obviously designed to 'brainwash' the new Interior Department officials and create or strengthen in them a sense of hostility to the Federal Power program as it then existed," the subcommittee report said.

John E. Corette, president of the Montana Power Company, said in Butte that he is "amazed" at the implication "that there is anything wrong" with the book.

Corette said, "I hope we never see the day when a Congressional committee can intimidate us into abandoning our rights of free speech, free press and free petition which are guaranteed to every American citizen under the Constitution."

Israel Okays U. N. Plan; Troops to Be Withdrawn

NEW YORK (U)—Israel has agreed to withdraw its troops from disputed territory in accordance with the Feb. 2 United Nations resolution. That resolution, criticized by many for its vagueness at the time, calls for the moving of United Nations troops into the Gaza Strip and Gulf of Aqaba areas.

The resolution also states, "that withdrawal by Israel must be followed by action which would assure progress towards the creation of peaceful conditions" in the Middle East.

Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban announced in Washington yesterday that his nation will divulge its withdrawal plans today, but he declined to spell out any details of the plan.

Instead, he said only that he believed the United Nations would grant its approval. The General Assembly approved the Feb. 2 resolution by a vote of 56 to 0, with 22 nations abstaining.

Eban Briefs Dulles

Eban made the statement after briefing Secretary of State John

Foster Dulles on details of the Israeli plan. He also declined to say whether Secretary Dulles was satisfied.

Eban said he thought it was correct to say there had been a "break-through" in the long American-Israeli negotiations.

He said he notified Secretary Dulles of Israel's decision because of the Secretary's constructive role in trying to solve the Israeli-Egyptian dispute.

Despite Eban's statement there still was no word from Jerusalem.

Reports from the Israeli capital indicate there may be a crisis brewing in Premier David Ben-Gurion's government over any compromise plan to pull the troops out.

At the United Nations, Egyptian Foreign Minister Fawzi told the Assembly that anything less than an Israeli pledge of "immediate, complete and unconditional withdrawal" would make a "miserable mockery" of the U.N.

Doctrine Faces Showdown

In Washington, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) has set the stage for a showdown on the proposed Eisenhower Middle East plan in the Senate.

Johnson hopes to get a final vote today on a proposal by Sen. Richard Russell (D-Ga) to separate the foreign aid provision from the military aspects of the plan.

Johnson also announced that the Senate will meet two hours early today and will hold a Saturday session to speed action on the measure.

Sen. Harry Byrd (D-Va) announced his support of the Russell amendment yesterday. Byrd charged that the President's original request would cost American taxpayers additional billions of dollars.

The State Department said the amendment would "largely destroy" the effect of the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Indian Institute Plans Outlined

Plans for the fourth annual Institute of Indian Affairs were discussed at a Wednesday meeting of representatives from MSU and groups concerned with Indian problems.

The Institute is scheduled for April 10-12 on the campus. The theme is "Unresolved Situations of the Indian and His Property in the State of Montana."

Members of the Community Services Laboratory and the Department of Sociology, Anthropology, and Social Work met with Percy Mellis, area director of the Bureau of Indian Affairs; Walter Wetzel, chairman of the Blackfeet Tribal Council; Forrest Stone, superintendent of the Flathead Agency; and Walter McDonald, chairman of the State Intertribal Policy Board and chairman of the Flathead Tribal Council.

Sponsors are MSU, the Montana Committee on Human Relations, the State Intertribal Policy Board, and the Billings office of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

The Community Services Laboratory, supervised by Dr. Harold Tascher, professor of sociology, social work, and anthropology, will be responsible again this year for developing the Institute program.

Famed Quartet Entertains Here Tonight

The Budapest String Quartet will present a program in the Music School Recital Hall tonight at 8:15.

The group was originally made up of Hungarians, but now is composed of Russian born Americans. Members are Joseph Roisman, violinist; Boris Kroyt, violinist; Alexander Schneider, violinist; and Mischa Schneider, cellist.

The quartet is regularly featured in concerts in Coolidge Auditorium of the Library of Congress, an internationally recognized chamber music center, said Eugene Andrie of the music school. The group made its American debut in 1930 and has steadily gained popularity, he said. Their Columbia records sell about 300,000 copies a year.

The program includes four movements from "String Quartet in E-flat Major," by Beethoven; four movements from Bartok's "String Quartet No. 6"; and four movements from "String Quartet in A Minor" by Schubert.

The concert is one of the MSU Recital and Chamber Music Series sponsored by the School of Music Foundation as a public service project. To maintain the low cost of admission, no single admission tickets can be sold except to out-of-town guests, Andrie.

A Wise Decision

A wise decision was made yesterday in the Montana Senate. House Bill 41 was killed because of adverse committee reports. If this bill had been passed it would have let the state's voters decide in November, 1958, whether or not to amend the Montana Constitution to extend suffrage to 18-year-olds.

Montana would have become the third state to allow 18-year-old voting had the bill been ratified. Georgia and Kentucky are the only two states that allow this type of voting.

State laws require that persons selected to serve on a jury must be over 21. It is presupposed that a person serving on a jury has mature and responsible characteristics. The proposed change in the voting law would not have affected the age requirement for jurors.

Why didn't the proposed bill include lowering the age for jurors? The reason was because no one wants the fate of an individual placed in the hands of a teen-ager. Why then should the fate of the United States be partially placed in the hands of teen-agers?

Proponents of the bill used the adage that if a person is old enough to fight he is old enough to vote. But, those who are fighting at 18 are being led by older persons. Similarly the United States and Montana should be led by those who are old enough to lead.

Mere age does not lend to maturity, but neither does it take away from it. Our country has suffered in the past because of voter ignorance and it will do so at times in the future. If suffrage had been extended to the 18-year-old it would not have solved any problems. It would have only added to the voter ignorance.

SOVIET SPIES STEALING 'AMERICAN KNOW-HOW' By UNITED PRESS

A Senate subcommittee has charged that trained Soviet agents are "stealing the know-how of American business" as well as military secrets.

The report, issued by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee last night, said such spies have been frequently successful in concealing their activity, sometimes for years.

It recommended that the parent Senate Judiciary Committee begin a study to determine how best to tighten the espionage laws to deal with industrial spies.

The report also reviews the cases of Harry Gold and David Greenglass, both serving long prison terms for spying.

Mid-East Crisis

By UNITED PRESS

Whether the new compromise in the Middle East will work or not may depend more on Egypt than on Israel.

Israel at last seems to be ready to get out of the Gaza Strip and the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba without any public guarantees for her future security from either Egypt or the United States.

The pressure simply has been too strong for Premier David Ben-Gurion to withstand.

But even if Israel withdraws her troops, the crisis will continue unless the Egyptians show far more restraint than they have in the past.

U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld has said that President Nasser promised him Egypt will not again interfere with Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba. But Nasser has made no such promise publicly. And the Cairo press has demanded that the Gulf of Aqaba be kept closed to Israel.

Last weekend, some observers claimed Nasser had assured the United States he will not insist that Egyptian troops or civil administrators return to the Gaza Strip if the Israelis withdraw. But there's no record to pin Nasser down to on this matter, and some extremist sections of the Egyptian press talk openly of resuming raids against Israel from Gaza soon.

Unless Nasser has given some secret assurances to the U.N. or to the United States and intends Washington and Jerusalem may not really settle anything. to live up to them, the compromise hammered out between

Hungarian Revolt Stimulates Speeches

"It Must Not Happen Here," the first in a series of weekly reading hours, was presented yesterday in Main Hall Auditorium by the speech department.

Fourteen students appeared in the opening production of the oral interpretation and public performance classes under the direction of Dr. Evelyn Seedorf, associate professor of speech.

The title of the program refers to the Hungarian massacre. Under the direction of Dr. Seedorf, the students have prepared dramatic presentations based on personal interviews, printed reports, and other records of Hungarian "Freedom Fighters." The program includes narration, dialogue, free verse, and choral speaking.

This was the third performance by the speech department in February. Dr. Seedorf's public performance class presented an experiment in drama Wednesday, and earlier in the month Dr. Seedorf gave a recital of dramatic interpretations.

Legislative Highlights

HELENA (UP)—A House-approved bill to raise the State School Foundation program by 15 per cent was trimmed to six per cent in the Montana Senate yesterday.

Extended debate on this and other committee reports resulted in Majority Floor Leader David James of Liberty County calling for a night session to clear the debate calendar.

Unfavorable committee reports killed a proposed constitutional amendment which would have let 18-year-olds vote and another measure which would have tightened requirements of those filing for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The Education Committee submitted a majority report with amendments to the controversial Foundation program bill which the Montana Education Association has described as "essential if the school children are to receive a minimum education."

In the House

A Senate bill calling for a reclassification of Montana's taxable lands has advanced toward debate in the House of Representatives as the result of a favorable committee report.

The bill was amended by the House Ways and Means Committee to remove conflict from its language.

Representative Cecil Parker, of Pondera County, said the bill as approved by the Senate left uncertain whether findings of county commissioners would be final. Reference to finality was stricken from the proposal.

The measure resembles the Land Classification Act of the 1955 session which the state Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional on Feb. 5.

The proposal was drafted to overcome the Supreme Court's objection to its predecessor; that a tax to pay for the reappraisal of lands be levied only on real property.

The new bill permits a two mill levy on all taxable property.

The boards of county commissioners would be given five years to complete the reclassification under terms of the proposal.

Banker Relief Bill

A "Banker's Relief Bill" came out of the Ways and Means Committee without recommendation. It was placed on the debate calendar by motion of Representative James Wood, Chouteau County.

This proposal would lower to seven per cent the assessed valuation of surplus stocks on which banks may be taxed. At present, surplus, capital and undivided profits are taxed on 30 per cent of their value.

The effect of the bill would be to encourage banks to increase their capitalization, making more money available for lending purposes.

Placement Bureau Slates Interviews

The Placement Bureau has scheduled three meetings at which registration procedure will be outlined and other necessary information will be available for employment interviews.

Meetings will be held in Liberal Arts 104 at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, March 6, and Thursday, March 7, and at 3 p.m. on Friday, March 8.

Anyone wishing employment interviews or notification of other vacancies received by the Placement Bureau must attend one of these meetings.

Even In 1914 Women Students Had Trouble With Ridiculous Rules

Women, are you tired of rules? Do you wish that just one night you didn't have to worry about checking in, checking out and watching the clock in between?

Then ponder what happened in 1914 when a group of upper class women formed the Women's Advisory Committee to set up rules for first-year women.

These are the rules:

"It will be considered improper for first-year women to have pictures of men other than their father in their rooms.

"All freshmen wearing high school pins will forfeit same.

"Freshmen will not be allowed to have parties in their rooms unless two students other than freshmen are present to chaperone and maintain order.

"Not more than one article of jewelry may be worn and positively no cosmetics used.

"Freshmen will not be allowed off campus unless accompanied by students other than freshmen.

"Only one date a week will be allowed and the same gentleman may not call on two consecutive weeks, as the Women's Advisory Committee deems it proper to discourage college romance.

"Proper and due respect must be paid to students other than freshmen, and the Committee considers it proper for freshmen to rise when students (other than freshmen) or faculty members enter the room or take a seat in the dining room."

As the result of strong opposition, the rules were never enforced.

Plans Underway For Military Ball

Plans for the 1957 Military Ball are underway, Bob Peters, Commander of Arnold Air Society, announced.

Preliminary plans call for the ball to be held in the Cascade Room of the Lodge April 6.

Peters stressed that this year the semi-formal dance will be open to all University students.

"Arnold Air is directly in charge of the function, but the dance will be a result of the combined efforts of the Army and Air Force ROTC departments," he said.

Paul Snyder, dance committee chairman, said only junior and senior ROTC cadets will be required to wear their uniforms.

"Arrangements for a band have not been completed, but we hope to get hold of the all-university dance band that played at the EYU-Grizzly basketball game," Peters said.

One of the nation's top cosmic ray scientists, Dr. Serge A. Korff, professor of physics at New York University, will speak on "The Origin of the Cosmic Radiation," Tuesday at 8 p.m. in LA 304.

Dr. Korff will speak to the MSU chapter of Sigma Xi, professional geological fraternity. The meeting will be open to the public.

Dr. Korff won the Pregel Prize, awarded by the New York Academy of Sciences, for a paper he wrote in 1955. He was senior scientific adviser to the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission for five years.

He has been a member of the NYU faculty for 17 years. During World War II he received a citation while supervisor of physics research. He is the United States delegate to the International Geophysical Year meetings in Rome, Mexico and Rio de Janeiro.

Missing Plane Located, Five Are Dead

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (P)—The wreckage of an airplane, apparently that of a missing Dillon, Montana, aircraft, has been found near Spencer, Idaho, and searchers report that five bodies were found in the wreckage.

There were no survivors.

State police in Idaho Falls, Idaho, did not have final identification of the bodies, but said they included those of two men, a woman, a boy about 12 years of age, and a baby. The wreckage was identified as that of a Cessna aircraft.

The descriptions of the persons aboard and the type of plane matched those of the missing Cessna from Dillon.

The plane was found in a deep ravine by a ground party, which had been searching for the plane in which Donald J. Smith of Dillon was flying from Logan, Utah, to Dillon. Aboard the plane with Smith were his wife, their four-month old daughter; Weldo Payne, a Dillon automobile dealer; and Payne's 14 year old son.

The ground party reached the scene of the crash shortly after 1:30 p.m. The spot was about a quarter-mile off U. S. Highway 91, just north of Spencer near the Pleasant Valley Bridge.

Chiefs' 33-23 Win Over SPE Squad Tops I-M Activity

The Chiefs downed Sigma Phi Epsilon 33-23 in the top game played in intramural basketball Wednesday.

The Chiefs now are tied for the league lead in the "B" loop. The game was close in the first two periods and the winners held only a slim one-point margin at the half. French was the high point man for the Chiefs with 11 points. Durado with seven led the SPE team.

The Left Overs squeaked by Theta Chi in "C" loop play, 37-36. The fast contest saw Theta Chi lead by one point at the half, only to have the edge reversed at the end. Wersland of the Left Overs was the top scorer in the game with 17 points. Griffin scored 12 for TX.

The Loggers topped the Brunswick Bombers 35-24 in another game which saw the losers leading at the half. Moorhouse led the winners of the class "E" game with 14 markers. Johnson collected 9 for the Bombers.

There were two forfeited games Wednesday. Elrod Hall won over the Galloping Geese, and the Tomahawks claimed a win over Craig 3rd West.

Thirteen Register For Varsity Golf

Thirteen candidates turned out for varsity golf last week, according to Ed Chinske, golf coach.

The team will have its first meet here in Missoula on April 5 with Gonzaga. Later in the season they will travel to Utah, Utah State, and Brigham Young University.

Those out for the team are James Fuchs, Cal Ness, D. R. Casagrande, LeRoy Peterson, Bob Arras, Joe Boboth, Bob Mutch, Max Yandt, Willard Hart, John Boyle, Lou Pangle, Reno Parker and Buck Bundhund.

Grizzly Stats . . .

The Grizzlies have averaged three points more per game than their Skyline opponents, according to the most recent Mountain States Athletic Conference statistics.

Montana has a 64.4 average compared to their oppositions' 61.4 average. Only two other teams, Utah and BYU, boast larger margins.

The Grizzlies have scored 773 points compared to 737 for their opponents. Montana has a .344 field goal average while holding opponents to .332. At the free throw line the "Tips" tower over their opposition with a .730 percentage, compared to .688.

48-Year-Old Jockey Rides Horse to His 5,000th Win

By UNITED PRESS

Little Johnny Longden, the world's winningest jockey, reached another milestone in his long 30-year career yesterday when he rode his 5,000th winner.

He was aboard Bente in the fourth race at Santa Anita when he reached the mark.

It was the 47-year-old rider's third mount of the day. His other two finished out of the money.

Student Violinist to Play Sunday

The University Symphonette will sponsor a concert Sunday at 8:15 p.m. in the University Theater. Pamela Brechbill will be featured as a violin soloist using a violin attributed to Omobonsis Stradivarius, son of the master violin maker.

The violin, recently given to the

PAMELA BRECHBILL

School of Music Foundation, is an instrument of great tonal richness and power, according to Lloyd Oakland, professor of music.

"Although its authenticity has not been established," Prof. Oakland said, "it is undoubtedly an instrument by a fine maker of the Eighteenth Century."

The Symphonette, with Eugene Andrie conducting, will offer as one of its selections a solo by Miss Brechbill of "Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso," by Camille Saint-Saens.

This work was originally to be a movement of a concerto, but did not become part of a larger work because it is completely sufficient in itself. It has become a favorite of violinists and listeners because "it displays the delicacy and fire of the violin's character."

Miss Brechbill is president of the University Symphonette this year. Other officers are: Jeanne Sanderson, secretary - treasurer; Lesley Mortimer, publicity chairman; and James O'Brien, librarian and stage manager.

Nancy Critelli is a graduate assistant, and James Gemmell and Ephraim Hackett are student conductors. Eugene Andrie is music director, and is assisted by other music staff members.

Indian Institute ...

Workshops in eight general areas will carry out the program, with consultants from Montana tribes, government agencies, and state and national agencies participating in each.

According to Dr. Tascher, the Institute will also include general sessions, nationally-known speakers, a public reception in honor of Indian people, and a new show in the Field House featuring Indian customs and abilities.

Students To Begin Selecting Classes For Spring Term

The quarterly chore of advanced registration will begin Monday. Approximately 2,700 students will converge on the basement of Main Hall Monday afternoon to pick up their registration cards for spring quarter.

After consultation with advisers, students will be sectionized. Checking clerks will be on duty in the basement of Main Hall, from 1:00 to 4:30 Tuesday, March 5, and 8:00 to 4:30, March 6 through March 12.

The Registrar's office will accept registrations only during March 5 through March 12. There will be no checking on Saturday morning, March 9.

Registration fees must be paid by Friday, April 5. Late fees of $1.00 a day will be charged, to a maximum of $5.00.

On payment of fees, students should present their activity cards to get it validated for Spring quarter.

NIXON TO VISIT NEW NATION

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon is on his way to Africa for a three-week tour of the continent.

The tour will take him to eight African nations, including the Gold Coast Colony which becomes a free member of the British Commonwealth next Wednesday under the name of Ghana.

Climbers Pay

The higher cost of living has finally included mountain climbers.

The Nepalese government is now charging royalties on all climbing expeditions in the Himalayan mountains.

Mt. Everest and seven other Himalayan peaks have royalties of $640.

Foreign Situation, Middle East Plight Discussed by IRC

Foreign powers blame part of the Middle East situation on the "one way" intentions of U. S. foreign policy, Jack Upshaw and Judy Orcutt said in a talk before the International Relations Club Wednesday evening.

Upshaw and Miss Orcutt, who were the discussion leaders this week, said other nations view our foreign policy as the attainment of our objectives, and the protection of our interests and in view of other nations' interests and objectives are disregarded.

This has resulted in an unclear and inconsistent U. S. foreign policy in the eyes of other nations' diplomats, they said.

In pointing out instances why foreign powers think this way, Upshaw mentioned the French suspicion that U. S. oil interests are dictating a good part of our Middle Eastern policy.

"Some of the French wonder," he said, "why we support them as allies on one hand and at the same time support a good part of the Arab military by paying oil royalties."

He also mentioned that the major portion of our aid to these countries has been of a military nature, and thus is thwarting our allies' objectives to protect our own, which is to contain Russia.

The discussion leaders said the paradox of the situation can be seen when one realizes that the goals of the United States and its allies are similar.
